The State Central Committee's
Address.

OFFICE OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, Louisville, Kentucky, June 12.—To the Democrats of Kentucky: The approaching National election and the great interests involved—interests for the maintenance of which you, more than the Democrats of any other State, have been made responsible—render the result of the pending election of the greatest consequence.

From the election of Samuel J. Tilden in 1876 to the defeat of Grover Cleveland in 1888 you have led in the fight for the removal of needless tariff taxation until by your persistent demands in behalf of the people the principles for which you have contended have become popularly known as "the Kentucky Idea."

In 1888 the honest purpose of the people's President to carry out the principles embodied in your St. Louis platform concentrated the moneyed power of the country in support of Harrison, and the only President the Democrats have secured in thirty years went down in a faithful effort to carry out the principles on which you nominated him.

The fight is still being waged for the supremacy of the right to reduce your taxes to a legitimate limit, and, at a time when you are expected to maintain a consistent and firm position before the country, we beg that you let no side issue divert your allegiance or diminish your influence. No organization for the protection of particular interests, nor your own views as to the merits of the old or the new Constitution have any concern with your Democracy. One is none the less a Democrat who entertains whatever opinion he may choose on these questions. He is a Democrat that votes the Democratic ticket.

Your committee at the outset declined to assume in the party's behalf any responsibility for the organization of the Constitutional Convention; that convention was not a party body, and when you met in Democratic convention in May last, you declined to make the question of the old or the new Constitution a party issue in the present canvass.

Democrats of Kentucky, see to it that the majority in August shall not only justify, but increase the claims of your State to her pre-eminence in the annals of Democracy, so long brilliantly sustained.

Death of Elder Badger.

Died, in Greencastle township, on Sunday, June 7, 1891, Oliver P. Badger, in the 73d year of his age. Deceased was a native of Kentucky, and was one of a family of thirteen children, of which only three sisters now survive; he confessed Christ when fourteen years of age and was baptized by Elder John Smith, who performed this ordinance for more persons than any other man who ever preached in Kentucky. Elder Badger came to this county from Kentucky in 1834, and took part with the pioneers in the hardships of that day and age—clearing away the forest and making the wilds to blossom as the rose. He was one of the first three students enrolled at Asbury University when it was opened. When 18 years of age he was ordained to the Christian ministry, and since that time labored earnestly in his chosen path, preaching for the last time at Fillmore, just before being stricken with fatal sickness. He was married in 1838, to Martha Ann Yates; five children were born to them, three of whom, with his wife, live to mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband and father.

Not alone in the family circle and in the church will Elder Badger be missed; his neighbors and fellow-citizens will long remember him, as with upright form, hair and beard of snowy whiteness, and benign smile he walked about amongst them as a benediction; yea, missed he will be, and mourned also, and he will be held in precious recollection. Peace to his ashes, and consolation for those dear to him who mourn.—(Greencastle Ind.) Star-Press.

Those opposed to the adoption of the new Constitution will make a grand effort to "educate" the people up to the point of voting against it. If we were to listen to the extravagant utterances of some of these patriotic opponents of the new instrument, we would be led to believe there were entire Congressional districts without a single vote in them in favor of it. Talk is cheap, it is the votes that tell.

The town of Wallonia, Trigg county, is on quite a boom in consequence of extensive beds of limestone, which, it is thought, will prove valuable in the manufacture of cement. The Standard Oil Company is having the rock examined, and if it proves to be valuable will build a large factory there.

C. W. Macune, editor of the National Edonomist, is authority for the statement that an Alliance council will be held in February next, to decide how long the organization will wait for the old parties to concede the farmer's demands.

A new national bank has been organized at Pineville. It will be known as the First National, and it will start with a capital of $50,000.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Kiddville.

The Kiddville school closed Friday evening. After a talk by its teacher, G. C. Williams, the following program was rendered: Miss Nannie Hines, recitation, "Rock of Ages;" Miss Ora Ware, recitation, "Somebody's Mother;" Miss Temple Curtis, recitation, "The Book-keeper's Dream;" Miss Nettie Ware, recitation, "You Put no Flowers on my Papa's Grave;" Miss Hannah Hines, recitation, "The Blue and the Gray;" Misses Temple Curtis and Hannah Hines, dialogue, "When We Were Girls;" Miss Ora Ware, recitation, "Guilty or Not Guilty;" Miss Nannie Hines, recitation, "John Darnell;" Master Asa Kidd, recitation, "The Hunters of Old Kentucky;" Miss Hannah Hines, recitation, "The Word Was Sent too Late;" Miss Ora Ware, recitation, "The Old Farmer's Elegy."

APALACHICOLA.

Sharpsburg Items.

Miss Lizzie Willetts, of Carlisle, is visiting Mrs. J. M. Brown.

Miss Mattie Bell, of Shelbyville, is the guest of Miss Sue Caldwell.

Miss Eva Whaley is here from North Middletown visiting Mrs. Dr. Rutherford.

Miss Lizzie Goodloe, of Lexington, and Miss Kate Winston, of Washington, D. C., are here on a visit to Miss Lucy Talbott.

Miss Mary Goodpaster, of Owingsville, is the guest of the Misses Peck; and Misses Mamie and Lydia Thompson, of Mt. Sterling, are visiting Miss Pearl Kincaid.

Sharpsburg is crowded with visitors in attendance upon the commencement exercises, and a goodly number will arrive during the present week to swell the list of those already here.

Much corn and tobacco was planted within the past week, and the other crops are doing well. Many young fruit trees that were planted last spring died because of the drought.

Sharpsburg is certainly the metropolis of Bath county, there being more business transacted here than at any other point in the county. And why shouldn't it be, since it is situated in the wealthiest and best section of Bath?

Sharpsburg College is in the midst of its commencement festivities. Last Thursday the public examinations were held, and the students acquitted themselves creditably. On Friday the public were highly entertained by a musical review, and exercises given by the younger students. Master Alvin Ratliff, of the primary department, received a gold medal for the best delivered oration. The baccalaureate sermon was preached at the First Presbyterian church last Sunday morning by Rev. C. K. Cox, of Mayesville, who took for his text I Thessalonians V: 26. Last night the annual concert, including "Dreams of Ancient Greece," took place at the Baptist church in the presence of a large and appreciative audience. To-night (Tuesday) there will be an elocutionary contest, and the successful competitor will receive a handsome gold medal. Fourteen bright and beautiful young ladies will take part in the contest. Wednesday evening the graduates, seven in number, will read their essays and receive diplomas. The following are the graduates and the subjects of their essays: Miss Lizzie Peck, Salutatorian, "Drifting;" Miss Mamie Rogers, "The Life of a Song;" Miss Mamie Halls, "Life;" Mr. Robert Brown, "Emblems;" Miss Maggie Hickey, "Sheaves;" Mr. Walter Latta, "The March of Intellect;" and Miss Susan Craycraft, Valedictorian, "Afterwards."

On Thursday evening the graduates will give a grand reception at Mrs. Talbott's residence, and on Friday evening the young men of the town will give their annual commencement hop. The Baptists are quite proud of the class of '91, and they have good reason to be, for both Salutatorian and Valedictorian are members of the Baptist church, and the baccalaureate sermon was preached by a Baptist Minister.

HESOS.

It is said that John Young Brown has been compelled to employ clerical help in order to keep up with his correspondence, so numerous are the applications for position under his administration. If this is true he is paying more attention to them than he should. He should look at the name, and if it is that of a man who has made life a failure and is simply hunting for a sinecure his application should go into the fire and let that be last of it. When a man has showed a lack of ability to attend to his own affairs he should not be placed in charge of ours.—(Nelson Record.)

HORSE AND TRACK.

The curry comb and brush were made to use and not for ornaments.

It is reported that no outside mares will be bred to Guy Wilkes in 1892.

Goldsmith is working Freeland, a brother to Freedom, and will start him for a yearling record.

Skip, dam of Independence, 2:21 and Glenarim, 2:23, has been bred to Nelson. She is twenty-six years old.

The Almont mares will soon be up in the front ranks of speed producers.

Do not overlook the fact that your horses need a refreshing drink of water as often as you do.

Five hundred and fifty-six mares have produced two or more trotters each with records of 2:30 or better.

John E. Madden, Lexington, Ky., has sold to Pennsylvania parties the two-year-old colt by Electioneer; dam Esther (thoroughbred) for $3,700. He is a very speedy colt.

A small wager was made in Lexington one day last week that Brown Hal would pace a quarter in 28 seconds on one of the tracks of the Grand Circuit this season, if his foot did not bother him.

It is reported that Woodburn Farm has been offered $15,000 for the Axtell foal, either out of Miss Russell or Russia, the minute it stands up. The philanthropist who made this offer remains in convenient obscurity.

American horses are being shipped to Aberdeen, Scotland, for coach and driving purposes, and one dealer has opened a stable for the exclusive handling of American horses.

The gossip from Palo Alto is that with more age Sunol has lost something of her nervousness, carries more flesh than ever before, and is under perfect control. Marvin hopes and expects to go a mile close to the record of Maud S. with her before she is sent to Mr. Bonner in the fall.

The pacing records have been reduced from 2:30 to 2:06, as follows: In 1839, Dover, 2:28; in 1844, Unknown, to wagon, 2:23; in 1852, Pet, 2:18; in 1855, Pocahontas, to wagon, 2:17; in 1868, Billy Boyce, to saddle, 2:14; in 1869, Yankee Sam, 2:16; in 1879, Rowdy Boy, 2:13; and Sleepy Tom, 2:12; in 1881, Little Brown Jug, 2:11; and in 1884, Johnston, 2:06.

The value of any horse depends upon his performance. In the draft horse strength is the desideratum; in the carriage horse, style and beauty; in the trotter it is speed. Therefore, get speed. Remember that fashion sometimes produces speed, but speed always creates the fashion.

The colt will learn more easily when six months old than when a year old. It can also be controlled more easily. Hence it is wise to handle the colt early. Its early training should not stop with breaking to halter. It should be handled until any part of its limbs can be rubbed; until it is accustomed to the bridle, and until it will drive as well as lead. To teach it all this, and to keep it from forgetting what it has learned, is a little trouble, but if the colt is good stock the trouble is well paid for.

John Madden, Lexington, Ky., one of the shrewdest buyers and best posted of horsemen, purchased at the Cleveland sale the bay three-year-old filly Abbieleen, for $2,350, consigned by O. P. Uplegaff, of Topeka, Kansas. She has been placed in the hands of the only Splan, and will likely take a low record this year. She is a sister in blood to Godelia, 2:19. Abbieleen was foaled at Maple Hill Farm, Bean Bros. still own her dam, Kate Thompson, who has a foal by her side this year.

We saw Allerton move for the first time this season last Saturday, and the way he is looking and moving this spring is simply great. His action is absolutely perfect, and he knows nothing but trot. He is a grand horse in every particular, and while we are not a prophet, if we were to pick any horse to break the stallion record this season it would be Allerton. The five-year-olds that beat him, if he stays right, will know that they have been to a horse race.

"I wrote to Murray, the trainer of B. B., 2:13, and a particular friend of mine, about Hal Pointer a short time ago," recently remarked B. C. Holley, "and in reply he said, 'Hal Pointer goes away fast and keeps going faster.' So, you see, he is rather a hard game to tackle; but I think if there is a horse on earth that can beat him it is Yolo Maid. Why, she can go a half mile in a minute, and I think if sent to the half in 1:02, she could come back in the same notch and pace a mile in 2:05. She can go that fast, and I tell you, she is the fastest piece of horseflesh I've ever seen, and you know I have seen a good many in my time."

I will sell at public sale, on Saturday, June 20, my residence on Howard Avenue. The lot has a frontage of 75 feet; on it a dwelling of 9 rooms, besides halls, veranda, double porches, etc., 2 good cisterns, fruit and outbuildings. In short, a very complete home. Also at the same time 2 building lots of 55 feet front each, on the same street and adjoining the above named property.
